

Coburg Community
Charter School Policy

Code: GBEB
Adopted: 12/14/2020
Revised: 6/3/2024

Communicable Diseases - In Schools

The public charter school shall provide reasonable protection against the risk of exposure to communicable disease for students and employees while engaged in the performance of their duties. Reasonable protection from communicable disease is generally attained through immunization, exclusion or other measures as provided by Oregon law, by the local health department or in the Communicable Disease Guidance for Schools published by the Oregon Department of Education (ODE) and the Oregon Health Authority (OHA).

A student or employee may not attend school or work, respectively, while in a communicable stage of a restrictable disease or when an administrator has reason to suspect the student or employee has or has been exposed to any disease for which exclusion is required in accordance with law. The public charter school may provide an educational program in an alternative setting. Services will be provided to students as required by law.

Employees shall comply with all other measures adopted by the public charter school and with all rules adopted by Oregon Health Authority, Public Health Division and the local health department.

The public charter school shall protect the confidentiality of each student’s and employee’s health condition and record to the extent possible and consistent with federal and state law. In cases when a restrictable or reportable disease is diagnosed and confirmed for a student, the administrator may inform employees with a legitimate educational interest.

The public charter school will include, as part of its general emergency plans, a description of the actions to be taken by school staff in buildings and by the school in response to medical emergencies.
